

ABSTRACT

The invention is about a mechanical two-directional transportation apparatus, specifying a mechanical two-directional transportation apparatus which makes use of a differential gearwheel construction with a changing
5 cors , which results in the different rotation speeds of the gear-wheels creating a movement with and against the rotary motion.